He's a young boy with a bad temper who ran away from home. Now he lives hand-to-mouth in the inner city. Sickened by the scum who prowl the streets, at night he ambushes criminals and kills them with his knife. In order to give them a slow death, he stole some handcuffs from a cop, and now he chains up his victims and tortures them before the coup de grace.

- He lives in the inner city.
  - He ran away from home.

- Justice has been done.
  - He kills criminals.

- He didn’t find those on the ground.
  - He stole the handcuffs from a cop.